BROOKLYN BOY SHOT.

William Greenleaf, 15, Accidentally Wounded by Medford, Mass., Visitor.

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Danielson, July 29.—Nathaniel Greenleaf, 15, who makes his home with Clarence A. Potter, treasurer of the Brooklyn Savings bank, was accidentally shot and probably fatally by Ivan Minott, 17, of Medford, Mass., while the boys were out shooting frogs at Weaver's pond about a mile from the village, Thursday afternoon. Minott was pushing his way through a clump of bushes to reach a better position for a shot when the .22 caliber pistol which he carried was accidentally discharged.

The bullet entered beneath the chin of the Greenleaf boy, shattering the jawbone and plowing its way upward. The wounded boy exhibited remarkable courage, mounting his bicycle and riding to his home. Dr. A. H. Tanner of Brooklyn and Dr. George Burroughs of Danielson were called, but the bullet could not be located. The boy was later taken by automobile to the Day-Kimball hospital at Putnam.

His chances of recovery were considered slight Thursday night.

The Minott boy is in Brooklyn visiting a relative, Rev. George Gehring, pastor of the Baptist church.

Demand for Buttermilk.

Buttermilk is a drink becoming more and more popular and particularly in the hot weather is sold in ever-increasing quantities. Not only dairy restaurants and at soda fountains, but hotels, cafes and saloons are now generally carrying buttermilk to accommodate the ever growing demand for it. The sale of buttermilk this summer in Bridgeport has been particularly large, and it may be had in almost any restaurant or saloon.

While opinions differ as to the specific nutritive value of buttermilk, it is generally conceded to be a healthful drink. But what makes it particularly popular in the hot season is that it is a most cooling and thirst quenching drink.—Bridgeport Farmer.

Payned.

Some newspapers are wondering whether it will be known as the Payne or the Aldrich bill. The former would express our feelings more exactly.—Cleveland Leader.
